Britain Says 'K' Plan Would Eisenhower Delay Disarming 40 Years

Soviets Urged To Negotiate Specific Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP -Britain declared Monday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals would delay actual disarmament for 40 years if they were carried out to the letter.

David Ormsby - Gore, British minister of state for foreign affairs, challenged the Soviet Union to spell out more concretely its position on the major issue of controls over disarmament, and to enter into new negotiations on specific issues on which there is possibility of agreement.

But the Soviet Union held fast to its position in the General Assembly's 99-nation political committee, thus strengthening speculation that the Soviet bloc would carry out its threat to walk out on the committee debate if Khrushchev's proposals do not meet complete Western accept-

Ormsby-Gore told the committee that Khrushchev's proposal for a disarmament treaty makes no provision for anything to be done until the last comma has been agreed upon.

He declared that the Western plan to seek agreement in specific areas where this is possible despite East-West mistrust "is more realistic, more practical and less likely to deceive the hopes of mankind with high sounding

"Blue Cross protection doesn't let me down

when hospital costs go up!"

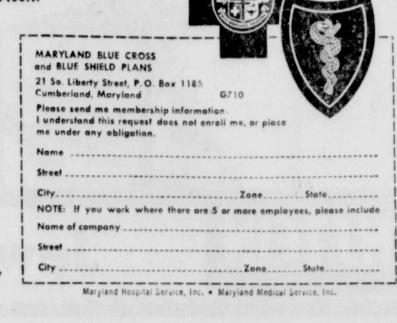

... says Miss Winifred Sapp, secretary at Baltimore Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

Even though your hospital bills may be higher during this inflationary period of rising costs, Blue Cross continues to provide you with full coverage of practically all hospital services.

Compare this with ordinary hospitalization programs which provide only fixed dollar amounts to be applied against your hospital bill. When hospital costs rise these fixed dollar amounts cover less and less of the bill-you have to pay more and more.

In hospitalization programs—as in anything else, it's not just what you spend but what you get for what you spend. Mail this coupon today for the full story on Blue Cross. Compare it with other programs. We think you'll be convinced that dollar for dollar Blue Cross is your best buy in hospital bill protection.

Also attending was Francis Kenney, of the Maryland

Department of Employment Of the six points, the first two extension of Route 70 through Allegany and Garrett counties and development of the Potomac

River Basin were stressed. Interstate Route 70, which has been planned to end in Maryland at Hancock and go from there across the Pennsylvania state line to Breezewood, was termed vital to employment and new industries here by the labor council A more abundant water supply for any new industry that might consider this area could be supolied by the development of the Potomac River Basin, the labor leaders pointed out. Thomas, in a remark about the fifth point - development of a coal research center-said that he was told on a visit to Washington that in Allegany and Garrett counties there is estimated to be 75 million tons of unmined coal. Commissioner Philmore Fleming said he assumed he was speaking for other city leaders in announcing his support for the six-point program and that he, personally, felt that the first two were of prime importance. Commissioner John J. Long, stating that naturally he would back any plan to better Cumberland, asked the labor council just what the Mayor and Council could do to help achieve the points in the plan. Commissioner Lucile Roeder proposed that since the first two points seemed more timely, that they be pursued first rather than work too hastily in trying for all six goals at once. The labor leaders agreed that the first two were possibly more timely than the others.

WHAT WILL YOUR RETIREMENT YEARS BE LIKE?

Consider these facts about stocks and bonds as you plan for your future

Sound investments can provide you with an income that will continue after your retirement.

Knowing this, many people start to buy stocks or bonds early in their lives. They are planning their futures, building up their holdings. In many cases they re-invest their dividends and interest while they still e income from their jobs.

An Income from Common Stock

Unfile many other types of investment, good common stock can provide a growing income as the years roll on. Many of America's 12 million shareowners have discovered that both their dividends and the value of their holdings have grown with the expanding economy of the nation. And as the country continues to grow, so will many businesses.

Not all investments are good ones, however, and as you plan for your own future, it's a good idea to recognize that there are risks. Some companies will not grow; some will be unable to pay dividends or interest. It's wise, therefore, to follow these basic rules:

- 1. Invest only money not needed for regular living expenses and emergencies.
- 2. Get information about a company before you invest in it. Don't rely on tips.
- 3. Go to a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange for investing advice. At any of the Exchange's more than 2,900 Member Firm offices, you can get friendly, well-qualified help. Anyone is welcome to it, free. The only charge is a small commission when you buy or sell securities.

Another Service

Among the many services at a Member Firm office is the Monthly Investment Plan. This plan enables you to acquire stock in almost all companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange for as little as $40 every three months.

Why not consider investing as a means to provide better for your future? As a starter, send the coupon below for a free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It's a basic guide to common stock investment, and it lists over 400 companies that have paid cash dividends every year for 25 years or more.

Time For UNICEF Trick-Or-Treaters

Once again, it's time for hundreds of children in the Cumberland area to wrap the familiar orange and black UNICEF labels around milk cartons, dress up in their most frightening costumes, and tour their neighborhoods on what has become one of the world's strangest and most heart-warming errands of mercy. They'll be out to trick or treat, not for themselves, but for millions of children and mothers throughout the world who are less fortunate than they.

Of the one billion children in the world, about 75 percent - that's 750 million - live in underdeveloped countries. Eighty per cent of these live in areas where the income per person averages less than $100 a year. It is to help these youngsters that the United Nations General Assembly established the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. In 1953, the words "International" and "Emergency" were dropped from the official title, UNICEF attacks poverty, undernourishment and disease on four fronts. First, it ships powdered milk, provides equipment for milk conservation plants, and helps to develop other foods rich in protein. Second, it provides aid for basic maternal and child health and welfare services, and has established 23,000 health centers all over the world. A third activity is help to governments in controlling and eradicating diseases that affect large numbers of children. Its fourth field of work is its well known aid in time of strife or natural catastrophe.

UNICEF has the full approval and support of the United States government, and of major religious denominations in this country. At times, the point has been raised that the governments of some participating nations are not of our liking. In any worldwide organization, this would naturally be so. Most Americans apparently feel that those 750 million hungry children should be helped at all costs, whatever may be their governments.

But however one feels about UNICEF, the young trick-or-treaters should be treated with courtesy. They're using up a lot of time and energy in a cause that they understand surprisingly well, and believe in. They deserve a lot of credit for their efforts.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Growth

Everybody talks about growth. By growth is meant the increase in the economy of a country. Such an increase may be measured in several ways. Each form of measurement will bring a different result and therefore will lead to a different conclusion. If we measure growth by the national income produced, it becomes important to translate the dollar realistically from nominal money to real money and the figures reached are very different-and very discouraging.

If growth is measured in terms of tonnage or in terms of kilowatt-hours or some such measurement, the figure will be altogether different. Again, if we compare the increase of capacity for production, say between 1917 and 1960. Soviet Russia can produce favorable figures but if we use figures showing the actual production, the United States is so far ahead of Soviet Russia that there is no comparison.

Allen Dulles, the head of the CIA, put it sharply in this paragraph:

". . . Khrushchev proposes to build up Soviet industry, the base of Soviet military power, by completing the ambitious seven-year plan which covers the period through 1965. This will still leave him well behind the United States in overall industrial production. But Khrushchev believes that he can devote to military and world power aims a far greater percentage of his industrial production than we are likely to do. He expects to satisfy his people with a far more modest share of the consumer goods and luxuries that have seemingly become for us so essential a part of our own much higher living standard. Whether he will succeed in deluding his people, who today have far greater knowledge of the outside world than during Stalin's days, remains

Our greatest growth industrially was unquestionably between 1879 and 1914; nevertheless the expansions during the two World Wars were enormous and were designed to meet war conditions. Subsequent to World War II, American industry was required to supply for the rebuilding of both allies and enemies.

There is no reason to assume that an industrial plant established to supply the entire world in war and in a reconstruction period after a devastating war can in competitive peace-time utilize an identical plant or increase that plant at the same speed as countries which had no plant at all or whose industries were ed to 60,000,000 short tons; by 1945, steel capacity rose to 95,000,000 tons; in 1959, it was 147,000,000 tons. This is realistic growth in capacity. However, production fluctuated. In 1920, we produced 46,000,000 tons; in 1945, it was 79,000,000 tons; in 1956, it was 115,000,000 tons, but in 1959, it was 93,000,000 tons. In 1951, we utilized 100.9 per cent of steel capacity; in 1959, only 63.3 per cent. It is only correct that by 1959, the countries which we helped to rehabilitate and others should have completed their own means of production.

The term, growth, then must be related first of all to the existent plant and its utilization; secondly, to the purpose of expansion and the intended use of expanded capacity and finally whether the expansion is for war which is waste or for consumer consumption which is normal social use. Just to say that we must have growth is to say nothing clear

Our problem is not growth. It is to find the means to invest free American capital in new industries. The government takes too large a share of the individual's income for public use and thereby removes the incentive to invest in new and expanding industries. Thus, much American capital is exported out of the country not only for the development of industry but for better and larger returns on investments abroad. When capital is exported, it means that jobs are exported-jobs but not the workers. Therefore a social problem of prime magnitude is developed, namely, unemployment. Some say that the solution for this is to limit automation. Nonsense! Might as well go back to the donkey as a carrier instead of the motor truck. What needs to be encouraged here is the accumulation of private capital and the investment of that private capital in American enterprise. Only by such means is it possible to maintain and increase American industry, support our standard of living and build greater and newer industries as they have been to me." here in this country.

Kennedy Is Knifed Financially By Fellow Democratic Senators

WASHINGTON - H you want to know whether Senator Kennedy - if elected - will be able to carry out the promises he has given the nation, take a look at what his fellow Democratic senators are doing to him right now. Very quietly one southern senator. George Smathers of Florida, incidentally one of Kennedy's best friends, is neatly cutting Jack's throat.

Smathers who controls the purse strings of Democratic senatorial campaign funds, is stacking the cards so that liberal western senators who believe in the Kennedy philosophy will be defeated, while southern senators who believe in the Nixon philosophy will be elected

Here are the interesting inside facts as to how this is being done. Sen. Allen Frear of Delaware. who votes with the Republicans on crucial issues and comes from the second smallest state in the union, is getting $23,000 from Smathers' campaign till.

In contrast, Sen. Pat McNamara, a Catholic from the major state of Michigan, once head of the pipefitters local in Detroit, who has voted right down the line with Kennedy and the liberal wing of the Democratic party, and who comes from one of the biggest states population-wise in the union, is being starved with mon indeed.

In further contrast, Congressman George McGovern of South Dakota, who vigorously supports Kennedy's political ideals, is getting only $5,000 to run against Old Guard Sen. Karl Mundt, close friend and defender of Joe Mc-Carthy and of the "old Nixon." Democratic Secrecy

These, however, are secret figures. If you ask the Senate Campaign Committee how much money is being allocated they won't tell you. This is just as secret as the text of the Khrushchev-Nixon conversation in which Nixon is reported to have apologized to Nikita for the "Captive Nations Week Resolution of Con-

There are several able western senators on this committee -Church (Idaho), Engle (Calif.), Magnuson (Wash.), plus eastern senators Pete Williams (N.J.) and Vance Hartke (Ind.). But if you ask them where the money is going which they helped to raise, they honestly can't tell you.

'We had a meeting when we were raising the money," replied Church when queried by this column, "but we haven't had a meeting since. I came to Washington to raise another $2,500 for Bob McLaughlin of Idaho and I'm getting it. But I have no idea how much is going to the other candidates. I only know that Idaho has been starved.

Inside reason for the lopsided allocation of Democratic funds is the fact that southern Democrats just don't want any more western senators elected. Florida's Smathers made this all too clear last summer when he dropped the confidential remark: "We got too many westerners and other liberals elected the last time.'

Close Friends - But Smathers is the devoted personal friend of the man who hopes to be president. But when it comes to the cozy little club called the U. S. Senate, Smathers is out to protect cronies who vote with him, not those who vote with Jack

There is another factor - and this one leads right to the doorstep of Jack's running mate, Lyndon Johnson. For the man who operates the Senate Campaign Committee while Smathers is in Florida happens to be Johnson's

This handsome, efficient, quietspoken little South Carolinian knows where all the votes are buried in the Senate. He knows better than anyone else who voted with the Republicans and who voted down the line for the Democrats. And he is helping Smathers shell out the dough, not according to party loyalty, but according to his ideas of continuing the Republican-Dixiecrat axis which last summer swamped the proposed legislation of Senator Kennedy.

Yet, thanks to tax loopholes his company paid only $6,949 in taxes in 1950 against an income of $1,218,627 while his preferred stock earned $22.65. Kerr, a key member of the Senate Finance Committee, votes right down the line to keep these tax loopholes unplugged.

Kerr supported his friend Frear on the DuPont amendment. Smathers, also a key member of the Finance Committee, and the man who allocated Kerr more election money than any other Democratic senator except Frear, also voted for the DuPont tax giveaway and helped defeat Kennedy's plan for medical aid for the aged. . . . Sen. 20 (Delayed) - At noon today tight. Under the hot sun gray destrovers and submarines lav at shrieked down out of the high cumulus to drop practice bombs on the salt beds behind the base. The business-as-usual attitude is only on the surface. Underneath, the U.S. Navy waits for trouble.

An embargo was slapped on Cuba by the United States vesterday. Within four hours, Admiral Robert L. Dennison, Supreme Commander Atlantic, was coming into McCalla field here in his 4-DSAR plane. He had summoned Rear Admiral Allen Smith Jr., commander of the Caribbean Frontier, and the two met in emergency conference at the home of Guantanamo's Commander, Rear Admiral Frank W. Fenno

There are 3,000 Cubans workhere. Oil tanks glisten silvery in the sun. The water supply is pre-

Dennison and Smith said that they expect some retaliation to the embargo. They don't know what form it will take. Castro's army isn't strong enough to attack Guantanamo, nor is it close enough to the trails of the Sierra Maestra mountains, which stand to the west like a green buzzsaw. The Cuban navy is a feeble collection of gunboats.

Therefore, if open war is not imminent, the admirals feel that several forms. One is the disabling of machinery in the shops which abut the waterfront. The water supply to the base comes from the Yeteras River, 4.6 miles Castro can close the valves any times he chooses. The base uses 2,300,000 gallons of water a day. There are only ten million gallons stored against the drought to come. The daily use of water can be cut, in an emergency, to 500,-000 gallons, and this means that the base can hold out for 20 days

Fires can be started in shops. About 20 per cent of all electricity here comes from Cuba. It can be shut off at any time. Dr. Castro can also order his 3,000 Cubans not to report to work. If this happens, no one will dare to disobey, and the repair work on ships will be seriously curtailed until such time as Seabees can take over.

"We are not expecting war," Admiral Dennison said, "or a mass attack. We must worry about harrassment and sabotage. He has another worry. Seven hundred miles to the west. Dr. Castro has just declared that all sea lanes north of Pinar del Rio Province to a point 30 miles at sea belong to Cuba and that all American vessels enter that area at their peril. International law states that no nation can claim sovereignty over the seas more than three miles from its shores. Quietly, and without publicity, the State Department has replied to Castro by stating that the U.S. Navy has been using the area between Key West and Pinar del Mar as a training area for many years and has no intention of getting out.

Many Types Of Cough Remedies Available

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cough medicines will continue to be popular so long as respiratory infections are rife. Mild hacking can be ignored but most of us want relief when cough is painful and frequent. Standard remedies are available as patent medicines: the stronger and more specific sirups and tablets require a prescription. A useful cough is a protective reflex that helps the lungs expel irritating and infected material. It should not be suppressed unless it interferes with sleep or getting well. Modern remedies take the work out of coughing. Bronchodilators and decongestants are included to liquefy the secretions. This reduces hacking to a mini-

Additional improvements have been made in these ingredients in the last 10 years. They are stronger, more effective, and leave fewer unpleasant side reactions. Some expectorants can liquefy thick tenacious sputum in less than 24 hours. This is particularly true if detergents such as Alevaire or enzymes such as

Tryptar are inhaled. Many of these products are useful in treating chronic lung disorders, in which hard coughing

30 Pirates Get $8,417.94 Each From World Series

Winners' Pay Is Smallest Since 1953

29 Yanks Receive $5,214; Orioles' Share Is $1,564

NEW YORK (UPI) - Each ries swag will receive $8,417.94, it was announuced Monday by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

The New York Yankees' individual full shares amounted to $5,-214.64 - the smallest loser's payoff since 1952 when the Dodgers each received $4,200.64.

The Pirates' share was the smallest winner's payoff since 1953, when each member of the Yankees received $8,280.68. 59 Get Full Shares

Both pennant winners were exceptionally generous in the distribution of their series receipts. The Yankees sliced their melon into 52 pieces, awarding 29 full shares, while the Pirates included 30 full shares among the 50 persons who will share in their re- Yesterday's Results

Civic Welcome Planned For Lodge Party

GOP Candidate To Speak Here Friday

The City of Cumberland this Friday will roll out for Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate, the same red carpet it used early this month to welcome his Democratic opponent, Lyndon Baines

The former U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations is scheduled to give a brief campaign address at City Hall Plaza Friday at 12:05 p.m., according to J. Glenn Beall, Jr. chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

Arrangements for the visit were made yesterday afternoon as Mr. Beall and George R. Hughes Jr., GOP campaign cochairman, and two members of Mr. Lodge's staff met with city officials in the office of Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Present were Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and Lt. Raymond R. Johns-

City officials protested the plans on grounds the closing of the span would interfere with the annual Halloween parade planned Thursday night by the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association, and Friday's visit of Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate. The city officials said Cumberland has promised Mr. Lodge the same cooperation as was extended October 7 to Democratic candidate Lyndon Baines Johnson. And Mayor Keech said the bridge closing would interfere seriously with plans of the people who plan to participate in the Halloween even in South Cumberland Thursday. Mr. Fleming said Mr. Bushby was "happy to cooperate" and to defer the start of the work until Monday, October 31.

The repairs will be completed Monday through Wednesday next week, weather permitting, the SRC said.

To Begin Monday Plans of the State Roads Commission call for treating the surface of the wood deck of the bridge with a skid-proof resin. Complaints that the deck becomes very slippery when wet have been made since the new floor was laid last year. Pedestrian traffic will be allowed on the span during the repairs. Vehicles which normally use the bridge should use the George Washington Crossing span and then take Route 28 to Wiley Ford, the SRC said.
